There are handrels of them under treat city. There are handrels of them under treat meat here, and have been for we ke, apparentl no nearer boing able for daty than when the first came. Persons will esk, why is this? the thinking that the hospitals are rendered the most efficient places for the speedy recovery of the sick. This delusion is the grand reason why the ranks This delusion is the grand reason why the ranks in the field are so much thinned by sickness. One of the greatest disadvants go; under which we are pisced in the want of money, it seems as though the paymasters do not cousider it part of their duty to pay the soldiers in the hospitals, and they are eliowed to remain nopal; for four, six, and eight months without even hearing from the Paymaster, whilst they receive latter after letter from the inferious distraction. their families stating that they are in distres-calling on them for money, to which calls the calling on them for money, to which calls they can only give the answer that they have not yet heen paid off. Besides there ere many here neerly withcut clothee and no opportunity of getting them, and very many, that, could they get short firlingths, end get cut to take exercise and change diet, they would be able to join their regiments; but for the want of money they are compelled toremain in onfinement, dwindling away, and not unfrequently dyling. This is not the way that a soldier who has left all that is near and dear to him and some forth to sus ain bis country's honor should be treated; it is more like the treatment of a prisoner of war than that of a patriotic soldier. Who then is to plame, and whom are they who can remedy these things? They who are that therity should have their attention called to the subject, and so if these evils caonot be remadied and the army kept more efficient by having a much these number of sick. There are hundreds here, if they had had the meane to pay their way home for a week or two, would have been able to ome for a week or two, would have been able of Painting.

An ordinance from the Common Council, bare they have been able to back the robel enemy in the late victories; but here they have been for two menths, and yet are far from being able to take the field. Another item I will call the attention of the public to, is that other nurses than soldiers should be employed in our hespitals. It would cause much better care to be taken of those who are unable to help themselves, and give to the services the

PRENTICE, HENDERSON. & OSBORNE, PROPRIETORS.

GEO. D. PRENTICE, Editors. OLIVER LUCAS, Local Editor and Reporter MONDAY, APRIL 21, 1862.

It takes a week or two, if not a month or two, to extract a coherent and intelligible idea of a great battle from the confused, exaggerated, and contradictory accounts of eyowitnesses and others. It demands too a share of integrity and eandor, which, on the part of the enemies of our great and good government, are evidently lost faculties, for they still persistingly and clamorously claim the battle on the field of Shiloh as a victory. To this claim it is necessary to apply only a single test to prove its utter fallacy. defeat en the one side is tantamount to a victory on the other. Now what were the ebjects proposed by Johnston and Beauregard in their masterly surprise and dashing assault? Most evidently their intention was to cut off the Federal armies by divisions; to drive General Grant's force over the river or into the river, or to capturo the whole of it before Gen. Buell's divisions could come up. They utterly failed in every one of these designs, and their defeat is a sabstantial and glerions victory on oar side. Apply another test. Wherever did a victorious General, by flag of truce, humbly ask of the conquered General for permission to visi the field of battle for the purpose of removing or burying the dead? We have already called attention to a most eulpable deficiency on the part of the advanced corps of our army, in being taken so completely by surprise. Some one ought, and will, no doubt, he held to an awfal accountability for it before an indignant country and an astonished world. There seems to be no accounting for it, but by supposing that the forgone conclusion that Benuregard would await an attack in a fortified camp, as he had so stubbornly done in Virginia, had taken such entire possession of the minds of both officers not, or did not, find admission for a moment.

A year ago the Nashville papers looked like dairies, so full were they of oxhibitions of the milk of human kindness. Doctors adertised their professional services gratuitonsly to the families of those who had volanteered in the Confederate army; public school teachers taught the young ideas how to shoot, without pay, in consideration for their paronts who were coming in to shoot down Kontucky Unionists; lead for bullets was tendered free of charge; Gov. Harris was authorized to draw on certain individuals for any amount, the wives and children of soldiers. Nashville was in fact princely in the munificence of its romises; gorgeous in its display of charity and benevolence; and its horn of plenty was lavishly emptied from hoth ends into inhabitants. Well, time tries all things, even tho ostentatious professions of rebel sympathisers. About a month since the Westera Union Sanitary Commission wrote to Gov. charged from the hospitals at St. Louis citizens of Tennessee, formerly belonging to the rebel ving or returning to their homes, and the nmission requested that transportation and sistence should be forwarded for them. In view of these statements, Gov. Johnson made a public appeal "not only to the charitable but especially to those who have been instrumental in reducing their misguided fellowcitizens to this sad degree of suffering, and who have been colaborers in the unholy work in which they were engaged, to come forward and contribute to their relicf." What was the response? Did doctors, or school-teachers, or pig-headed dealers in pig lead, or hankers, or landlords, who in April last made such a parade of their liberality, open their hands or pockets for the relief of these nnfortunate convalescent soldiers? Was the horn of plenty sent to St. Louis to gladden the sight of men exiled from their homes and pining to retarn to their families and friends? How much did the prodigal and lavish charity of Nashville subscribe? History must be written fairly and impartially, and, therefore, we answer-Not ono dollar! SERVICE AT NASILof this foul rebellion, and our returning heoes, with the consecration of the sacred cause and the glorious sears of battle and of victory upon them, shall come back to the homes they have secured forever to freedom.

When, less than twelve months ago, I'resilent Lincoln issued his proclamation ealling for seventy-five thousand men, the rebel chief at Montgomery characterized it as a "game of brag." What does he think now when the nation has eight times seventy five thousand men in the field, and further inpourings have te be perempterily stepped? And how fares it with the rebel army-whose spirit is broken, which is being perpetually drained by return ing regiments disgusted with the service, and which has to be kept up by impressmeuts, by fereed levies, hy enlistments for a month, fer a week, and even for a day! We commend the contrast to the attention of the Richmond newspnpers. There is subject for profitable effection there. We are yet too near in time to the expense attending the raising of the army of the Union fully to appreciate all that is wonderful and grand in this movement. But perhaps the most remarkable of all its aspects is that th order to cease enlistments should he received with a feeling of regret. Ilalf a million o men have come up from the peaceful walks of life to defend the unity of the Republie; but this drain, so far from exhausting our resonrees, leaves behind a sense of limitless opulence. The historian of the war will truly be able to sny what llomer said of one of his heroes: "Ilasf of his strength he put not forth." There is not the smallest doubt that, on good cause shown, another army of a half million would spring up to match the present ouc. The temper of mind that has put our present magnificent army in the field-a temper rooted and grounded in the deepest instincts of the people -is the best assurance that neither domestic faction nor foreign foes will ever be able to prevail against the Republic. The 4th and 5th 'Kentucky" regiments of rebels met Reusseau surpassed "the flower" of rebel chivalry was crushed beneath the iron heel of Rousscau's "rnbbish," and that "rubbish" not only coving as the memories of the field, but vindicated its title to earry Kentucky's military ronown forward wherever the people of Kentucky may order it. THE DEATH OF ALBERT SIDNEY JOHNSTON There is evidently a misapprehension in the public mind in reference to the circumstances connected with the death of Albert Sidney Johnston. The writer of this paragraph wes on the battle-field of Shiloh, on Sunday, the 13th inst., and was so highly favored as to form one of a party who were conducted over tha battle-field by Generals McCook and Crittenden on that day. General McCock was very communicative on the occasion, and pointed out muny interesting localitles as the party rode over tha ground. On the route General McCock halted us at the precise point at which Governor George W. Johnton, of Kentucky, was mortally wounded. Gen McCook was the fitst Federal officer who met the reisl Provisional Governor after be had fallen. He approached Mr. Johnston, and taking him np bis nama. Mr. Johnston told him that he was replying in the affirmative. Mr. Johnston then asked to be permitted to have a private Intervlew with the General, which was grented. Subequently en ambulence containing the body of relicle having been abandoned by the rebels, and over the deeds of their conrage. Governor Johnston, after an inspection, informed Gen. McCook that the body was that of Alber Sidoey Johoston. Gen. Johnston received but a port of the statement made by Gen. McCook in ever the tide of honor and of duty turns. the presence of several gentlemen. Gen. John ston may have been wounded sarly in the fight on Sunday; be may beve died in Col. Preston's arme; and his body may have been sent south for | ded to the calls of a greet and sacred cause, or Interment; but bls remains were in the bands of the Federal troops on Monday, the 7th inst., and it is the writer's opinion that they were buried npon the field of Shiloh by the Federal troops.

The clothes-line telegraph sent ns word the other dey that the packet ship Yorktown, between New York and Liverprol, bad been captured by a Confederate privateer. The fact is, the ladies' cabin of the steamer City of Memphis styles for the retail trade as they come out, is however, that she is now in the port of New and treated with-the utmost attention, being fed now fully prepared to furnish his friends and the York, loading for Liverpool. In this connection we agree with a contemporary that a fact which reflects great credit npon the navy is the almost total absence of privatesrs from the high seas. A one time there were dozens of armed vessels affoat, preying npon our commerce and threatening on merchant chips, but we have heard of none lately. and it is doubtful whether any but the Nashville is in a condition to do much damage.

ANDREW JOHNSON. - A year ago this day, as Andrew Johnson, a United States Senator from Tennessee, which State was then professedly in the Union, was travelling through Virginia, he was grossly insulted at Lynchburg by the sympathisers with recession. To-day these ruffians are quailing before the might of the Union armies while Andrew Johnson, respecting the mej esty of that Union, is acting as Governor of his ed on last Tuasday by Major II. R. Myers, of native State and aiding to restore lt to its loyalty.

BARRACKS BURNED -A firs occurred in the buildings occupied as a bospital for soldiers at the corner of Fourth and Water streets, at 4 e'clock vesterday morning, which destroyed the second. third, and fourth etories of the five buildings betwenn the corner of Fourth and the ellev above. The buildings are owned by Mr. J. B. Bland, and the first stories are occupied as store-rooms. This harrscks were occupied by convalescents. The fire was the work of an incendiary.
